BRIGHT SPOTS AND SAD.
ALL THAT MAN CAN BE.
MR. BARBOUR'S APPOINT-MENT.

LOS ANGELES.—There is some gloom in moving pictures, centered here. High finance which puts hundreds of millions into "pictures" wishes it had the money out, and is wondering how to get it out. The answer is nothing but a natural born moving picture man can do it. No high pressure efficiency person can deal with the gamut of temperament that stretches from John Barrymore to John Gilbert, and from Mary Pickford to Greta Garbo.

THERE ARE BRIGHT spots in the movies also. One such spot yesterday was a trinity composed of Nicholas M. Schenck, from New York, president of Loews, Inc.; Louis B. Mayer, who runs Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for Loews; out here, and Irving Thalberg, a young genius who does the producing and directing, selecting plays and players and improving them after he gets them.

As regards movie prospects they reminded you of the three little Japs that refuse to see, hear or speak any evil.

"They think all the old-time glory will come back many times multiplied, and meanwhile Loews is making excellent profits."

Nicholas M. Schenck, who has bought control of that enterprise, some time ago made no mistake.

THE YOUTH of the land, including romantic young ladies, will become more and more interested in a young "leading man" named Clark Gable whom Irving Thalberg has just selected for an important production, in which Gable will appear as a clergyman.

MR. GABLE a powerful young person, is rather like an English clergyman in real life who produced an excellent spiritual impression on British coal miners in his congregation by inviting the best of them to get in the ring with him and knocking them out. It is said Mr. Thalberg will invite Carnera, the giant Italian, or Campolo, the Argentine, to appear and be knocked out in one scene with Clark Gable.

"On the lot" you are told that the beautiful Estelle Taylor says Clark Gable is everything that a man possibly could be.

Having married Jack Dempsey, she should know.

GOVERNOR LARSON of New Jersey has appointed W. Warren Morrow to succeed Dwight E. Morrow, as United States senator from New Jersey. This appointment would please Mr. Morrow, as it pleases Mr. Morrow's friends and neighbors, among whom this writer is included.

Shortly before his death Mr. Morrow had persuaded Mr. Barbour to assist him by looking after the republican finances in New Jersey.

Mr. Morrow would applaud the appointment of Mr. Barbour, an able American business man, engaged in manufacturing on a great scale as was his father before him, one who devotes much time to public service in his state.

THIS WARM western coast is disturbed by strangers coming on foot and on freight cars without tickets. The number is so great that for the protection of local population.

CITY PUSHING $6,000 WELFARE BOND MEASURE

Ordinance Enacted By Council As Emergency Action

FUNDS AVAILABLE LATE IN JANUARY

Distribution of Money To Be Placed In Hands of Red Cross

Cooperating with other Salem organizations in an extensive welfare campaign, members of city council Tuesday night approved an ordinance establishing a fund of $6,637 for unemployment relief here.

In line with council's plans to rush action on the measure, the ordinance was passed under suspension of rules. The funds, to be raised through the sale of a bond issue, will be available late next January.

Sanctioned By State
The bond sale was sanctioned by the Ohio state tax commission under the Pringle-Roberts bill, passed by the legislature, which permits municipalities to issue bonds for unemployment relief during the year 1931.

Plans for the creation of a relief fund of $10,000 were dropped by council after the state commission ruled the city had already exceeded its limit in bonded indebtedness. The commission's approval of the project was obtained by City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott after the proposed bond issue was cut to $6,637.

A second ordinance, stipulating the manner in which the funds will be distributed, will be submitted to council members by Scott at their next meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 15.

Distribution of the funds will be placed entirely within the jurisdiction of the Salem Red Cross chapter.

Extend Matured Issues
Lacking funds in the municipal treasury to meet final payments on bonds falling due this year, members of council.

VOTE IS LOOMING ON PROHIBITION

Congressional Action In Sight, According To Senator Watson

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—A congressional vote on prohibition, long demanded by opponents of the national law and resisted by its friends, is in sight for the coming session.

Only today, Senator Watson—leader of the Republicans—promised a showdown in that chamber. Members of both parties in the house already were expecting the new line-up there to result in rules under which a vote can be forced.

Senator Watson predicted a roll call of the new senate would show it is "overwhelmingly dry."

He agreed with sentiment widely expressed in both parties that economic questions should be given precedence this session, but told anti-prohibition advocates that if a temperance measure of any kind reached the senate floor, he would not stand in the way of a vote.

"You can't prevent the subject coming up, in my judgment," he declared.

Greenford Plans Annual Institute

J. C. Slagle discussed current events at a meeting of Greenford grange Tuesday evening at the hall.

The roll call response was "Things For Which I am Thankful." A half-hour recreational period was in charge of Miss Mildred Coburn.

Plans were discussed for the Greenford Farmers institute, which will be held Thursday and Friday Dec. 10 and 11, in the grange hall.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. McConnell of this grange, with Mr. and Mrs. William Leigh of Garfield grange, will represent Mahoning county Pomona grange at the state grange meeting next week at Sandusky.

Pilot and Mail Safe in Crash

SUIT ATTACKS CITY PURCHASE IN YOUNGSTOWN

Heffernan Foe Objects To "Secret Deal" In Real Estate

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 2.—Payment of $100,000 on a secret deal by which the city board of control bought a property from Armour and company for street widening, at a price of $325,000 was revealed today as attorneys prepared to take depositions in an injunction suit against the deal.

The suit also attacks the purchase of other land from Swift and company for $98,000.

Checks Already Cashed
Assistant Law Director Hugh Wickham today revealed that efforts were made yesterday to stop payment on checks to Armour and company for $100,000 but that the checks already had been cashed.

Reporters since Monday have been unable to locate Law Director Carl Armstrong, members of the board of control along with Mayor Joseph L. Heffernan and Finance Director James E. Jones.

Jones said the properties were bought because the prices were reasonable and delay would be expensive. Heffernan, however, issued a vitriolic statement saying that the defeat of Jones for mayor in the recent election was a vote against an economy administration, and that he would spend "all the city money I can" before he leaves office January 1.

In the election campaign Heffernan backed Jones who was defeated by Mark E. Moore.

The injunction suit was filed by Mrs. Thomas Farrell whose husband supported Moorp for mayor, and is a bitter political enemy of Heffernan.

The fact that the deal was made without authorization by city council has led to question of its legality.

Silk Dress Winner

CHICAGO, ILL., Dec. 2.—Miss Helen Louise Thomas of Amesville, Ohio, won a blue ribbon with a semi-tailored silk dress at the style show of the national boys and girls 4-H club congress here last night.

Mount Union Glee Club Opens Season

The Mt. Union college Men's Glee club will make its first appearance of the 1931-32 season Friday evening at Minerva High school. The concert will be given for the benefit of the Minerva High school band.

During the winter the glee club will make appearances in Salem, Warren, Columbiana, East Palestine, East Liverpool and Louisville, according to a schedule just announced.

Nebraska Girl and Indiana Boy Called America's Healthiest

Both Drink Milk, Arise Early, Work, and Go In for Spinach

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—America's healthiest 4-H club girl will be 16 years old tomorrow. She is Gertrude Heikes of Dakota City, Neb., and she's all but perfect so far as her physical condition is concerned.

She scored a total of 99.9 points to win the National 4-H health contest over the competitors of 15 other states. Only a slight imperfection in the alignment of her teeth kept her from a 100 per cent rating. And she's a good looking girl too. Miss Heikes is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 137 pounds. She has dark brown hair and eyes.

William Sanders, 18-year-old blond youth of Hopewell, Ind., was proclaimed the healthiest 4-H boy, with a rating of 99.1.

Neither of the winners goes in for any special diet, but they both drink lots of milk, get up at the crack of dawn, aren't afraid of a last but possibly not least, they both eat spinach.

A total of 85,000 boys and girls participated in the various state contests, from which the finalists were named for yesterday's judging.

WINONA READY FOR COMMUNITY HOUSE PROJECT

Plans Launched at Close Of Annual Farmers Institute

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR COMING YEAR

J. H. Stewart, Chairman; Research Committee Is Continued

WINONA, Dec. 2.—The 13th annual Farmers Institute closed Tuesday afternoon after five interesting sessions with an average attendance of 271.

Officers were chosen for the coming year as follows: Chairman, J. H. Stewart; vice-chairman, Walter Vincent; secretary, Mrs. Roy Andre; treasurer, Homer Mountz. Executive committee: J. R. Stamp, Florence Moore, Albert Gamble, Lucy Berger, Emory Holloway.

Continue Research Committee
The institute voted to continue the committee appointed for historical research last year and three new members were added, Mary Steer, R. R. Barber and S. H. Bennett.

A committee was also appointed to work in conjunction with the historical committee and make plans to finance the printing of this history when thoroughly compiled. Its members are R. W. Coppock, Wilmer Satterthwait, Sadie Hoopes, Emmett Moore and Alta Stratton.

Winona has discussed the need of a community house for several years but the first definite step was taken in this direction this year. The institute authorized the chairman to appoint a committee soon with the power to act.

Senate Land for Building

J. R. Stamp and Earl Ruble have donated the land for the building which lies south of the road across from the Methodist church. Much interest is being shown and it is possible that next year's institute will be held in a new hall.

Temperance Union Hears State Worker

Teaching of temperance to children and loyalty to laws was advocated by Mrs. Bess Kuntz of Leipsic, O., state Loyal Temperance Legion worker, who spoke at a meeting of the Salem Women's Christian Temperance union Tuesday evening at the Baptist church.

Miss Laura Schilling had the devotion at the meeting. The Harmony Boys played two selections, and Harold Babb sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Babb.

Rev. Lydia Brantingham of Winona, county president, and Mrs. Sara Mcgrail also of Winona, were guests.

The Salem union plans to have a special meeting each quarter with a guest speaker.

Mrs. Kuntz, who has been working in this county, will go from here to Washington to attend a regional conference.

Legion Auxiliary Leader Installed

Mrs. E. E. Apple was installed president of the American Legion auxiliary at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home, East State st.

The ceremony was in charge of A. P. Morris, commander of Charles H. Carey post No. 56. Mrs. Apple was ill at the time of the regular installation.

These officers have been appointed by the president: Child welfare work, Mrs. Ray Pearce; hospital work, Mrs. Elma Wilson; pianist, Mrs. Frank Stoudt; sergeant, Mrs. Jessie Bradley; historian, Mrs. Jessie Burcaw. Plans for the winter work were discussed.

A meeting on Dec. 15 will be followed by a program and lunch.

Grange Women Meet

An extension meeting for modernized clothing was held Wednesday afternoon at Greenford grange hall in charge of Miss Bertha Baker of Ohio State university, Columbus.

"Dyeing" was taken up at this session.

This is one of three district meetings being held. Women at this meeting were from Beaver, Canfield and Green townships.

19 SHOPPING DAYS 'TIL CHRISTMAS

Stork and Taxi Share Honors

A race between the stork and a taxicab that ended in a fifty-fifty break was run recently at Cambridge, Mass. While on the way to a hospital in the cab, Mrs. Leonard Cunningham gave birth to a baby girl, and a few minutes after reaching the Middlesex Hospital in Boston, a twin babe came into the world. The taxi driver who raced the stork is rather proud of his feat, declaring that though he lost on one, he won on the other. The twins are shown above, first-born on right.

Mooney Awaiting Governor's Decision on Plea for Pardon

New York Mayor and Aids Appeal for Executive Clemency; Ralph Alone Has Power to Authorize Prisoner's Freedom

(By Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The case of Tom Mooney has been transferred from the solemn, almost drab, chambers of the California supreme court, to the governor's office. The fate of the man who has served 15 years in prison for murder he says he did not commit rests with the only individual who can pardon him.

The pardoning power of Governor James Rolph, Jr. was stressed and restressed yesterday as James J. Walker, Frank P. Walsh and Aaron Sapiro pleaded in impassioned tones for executive clemency for the man who was convicted of placing a death dealing bomb in the vicinity of a parade in San Francisco, July 22, 1916.

Rolph, Alone, Has Power
First Walsh, then Walker, and finally Sapiro reminded the California governor that in him alone lies hope for one of the most widely known prisoners in the world.

"No court can help him," said Walker. "The league of nations cannot aid him, none of the 47 governors can do any good, all the king's horses and all the king's men are powerless. Only your excellency, the governor of California, can right this wrong, correct this miscarriage of justice."

Mooney will not know for weeks, perhaps for months, whether he is to be freed or remain an attendant at the officers' and guards' mess at San Quentin. Governor Rolph and his advisors, Matt I. Sullivan and

Officers Elected By Relief Corps

Officers for the ensuing year were elected and two candidates were initiated at a meeting of the Women's Relief corps Tuesday evening at G. A. R. hall, East State st.

Mrs. C. F. Zimmerman was re-elected president of the corps. Her assistant officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Kittle McDonald; junior vice president, Mrs. Lena Bierley; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Zimmerman; conductor, Mrs. Lizzie Wright; chaplain, Mrs. Sara Fitzpatrick; guard, Mrs. Hattie Murphy; delegate to the state convention at Lima, Mrs. Fernan Rinehart; alternate, Mrs. Elizabeth Harmon.

The 23rd annual convention served lunch. The corps will hold its annual supper on Feb. 22.

An exchange of gifts will feature a meeting on Dec. 15.

Speak at Greenford

M. A. Bachtel and C. W. Ellenwood of the Ohio experiment station; Mrs. Leroy Frederick of Leontonia, R. D. and Mrs. D. R. McConnell, who lives north of Salem, will be the main speakers at the Greenford Farmers' institute scheduled for Dec. 10 and 11 at Greenford grange hall.

At Auditor's Meet

County Auditor John H. Irwin, Deputy Ray Adams, Irving Vorn-dran and Charles Gannall are in Columbus attending a convention of county auditors of the state.

Salvation Army Provides Relief For 108 Families During Month

Capt. Florence MacLean Reports; Cites Need For Clothing

One hundred and eight families were given relief by the Salvation army during November, according to a report for that period just made public by the captain, Florence MacLean.

The report shows that 122 transients were given meals and clothing and that the total number of persons given relief was 414.

Capt. MacLean expresses appreciation to the public for the cooperation given during the Thanksgiving season. Twenty families were supplied with Thanksgiving dinners.

Food, clothing and other goods donated are valued at $79. The income for the month was $92.90.

Twenty-two indoor meetings were held during the month and eight open air services conducted.

CHECKS GO OUT TODAY TO YULE CLUB MEMBERS

Distribution Made By Three Financial Institutions

CITIZENS FIXES DIVIDEND DATE

$50,000 To Be Paid Depositors Dec. 15, Officials Announce

Checks totalling approximately $61,500 were placed in the mail today by two Salem banks and a loan company for distribution to depositors in Christmas savings clubs.

The checks were mailed out by the First National and Farmers National banks and the Home Savings and Loan company, representing an amount similar to that distributed to Yule club members a year ago.

Boon to Shoppers
Distribution of the checks was expected by banking officials to stimulate shopping during the holiday season and prove a marked aid to business conditions here in general. One out of every eight Salem residents is estimated to benefit from the Christmas club idea.

Out of the total amount distributed bankers estimate that approximately $23,370 will be used for holiday shopping while considerable will also be used in the payment of debts and the remainder converted into permanent savings accounts. More than 72 per cent, bank officials say, will be diverted to constructive purposes.

Sets Dividend Date
Simultaneously with the mailing of checks to Christmas club savers, A. E. Beardmore, cashier of the Citizens Savings bank, today announced definitely that approximately $50,000 will be paid to depositors of that institution on Tuesday, Dec. 15.

The sum represents a 10 per cent dividend.

It will be the second dividend declared by the bank. On Sept. 15, a 25 per cent distribution was made to depositors, representing $134,000.

"DUSTY" MILLER HERE TWO DAYS

Noted Humorist To Entertain Rotary Dec. 15, After Visit With Foremen

"Dusty" Miller, noted humorist and after-dinner speaker, will entertain Rotarians and their guests at a dinner meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 15.

Rotarians are privileged to take their wives and other guests and the Columbian Rotarians and their wives also have been invited. No noonday meeting of the Salem club will be held that day. An evening of varied entertainment will be provided.

Plans for this social gathering were announced at the club's meeting Tuesday by David Bevan, chairman of the entertainment committee. "Dusty" Miller will be a guest of the Mullins Foremen's club Monday evening, Dec. 14, and arrangements have been made for him to remain in the city for the gathering of Rotarians the next evening.

The speaker at Tuesday's meeting was Lewis B. Round, president of the New Castle club, who gave his impressions of an ideal citizen. His talk was instructive as well as entertaining. Round, introduced by T. E. Miller, is vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power Co.

Wedell Sets Mark

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—James Wedell yesterday established a record of six hours and 40 minutes between Agua Caliente, Mex., and Vancouver, B. C., to break the mark previously set by James Hall, New Yorker, by one hour and eight minutes. Capt. Frank Hawks was forced down.

Cheers for Mix

ABOARD S. S. EMPRESS OF RUSSIA, Dec. 2.—This ocean is just as innocent looking today, just like it hadn't done a thing. We have followed the great circle route and swung away up north.

If we had gone ashore, I would have been telling my Republican jokes to an Eskimo, and I expect the Republicans wish they was with the Eskimos about now.

This morning's wireless reports Mix better, which is good. He has given many a growl and all kids a thrill. In 1905 at Madison Square Garden, Tom and I made our New York horseback debut with Zack Mulhall's Wild West.

Sure glad Charley Dawes has stopped this war, and I can change it into a kimono shopping tour of Japan and China.

CAREFUL CONSIDERATION

Washington's favorite guessing game has ended. Charles C. Curtis will accept his party's nomination for vice president, if it is offered to him. He is not interested in a Kansas senatorship.

He has been looking around out in Kansas and listening around wherever politicians talk. For reasons which he probably does not care to explain he apparently has decided that the Curtis bread is buttered on the vice presidential side.

Speculation on this important decision naturally ran along lines of the political effect, if Mr. Curtis should choose not to try to get the nomination for vice president, or if he should try to get it. Democrats, it was feared, would interpret abdication from his present office as an expert judgment that the Republican running for president and vice president in 1932 was going to be rough. Mr. Curtis has a long head when it comes to such things.

Unfortunately, other Democrats were saying that if Charlie didn't decide to be a Kansas senator again it meant that he doubted whether Kansas was going Republican next year. They were anxious to trap him whichever way he jumped.

The facts are that Republican party leaders respect Mr. Curtis deeply, but they would have been overjoyed if he had cut away from the 1932 ticket. And for this reason: He is too old to be vice president. The one excuse for having such an office is the possibility of the president's death; the vice president, therefore, should be capable of assuming the presidential duties. Mr. Curtis soon will be 72 years old. If Mr. Hoover is re-elected and if he should die the following year, Mr. Curtis would have to take the responsibility of the presidency at the age of 75. He could not expect to bear up under the strain; he would be seven years older than William Henry Harrison, the president who was oldest when he took office.

A further consideration is that if Mr. Curtis wanted the nomination for a full term and got it he would be 77 years old on taking office. The duties of the president would be too strenuous for a man of that age.

A senatorship, on the other hand, is enhanced by age. Unlike the presidency its demands on physical stamina can be adjusted to the individual's possession of stamina. Mr. Curtis is not too old to serve in the senate; certain Republican leaders cannot be blamed for believing he is too old to hold an office whose occupant would replace the president, in case of death.

Mr. Curtis's decision, therefore, does not close the issue. He will take the nomination if it is offered, but speculators have a lot of fun ahead trying to guess whether it will go to Charles Curtis, or some other eligible Republican.

READY FOR NEW BUSINESS

The first piece of business to be considered in the house of representatives will be choice of a speaker to serve until expiration of the new congress in 1933. Each of the major parties will offer its candidate.

Republicans in attendance at a caucus in Washington have chosen Bertrand H. Snell to be their candidate, and have pledged their votes to him. Mr. Snell, who apparently wanted very much to be the candidate, cannot expect to win. The Democratic candidate, John N. Garner, is conceded to have the election in his pocket; his party has a majority in the house.

Representative Snell, who comes from New York's 31st district, seems to have climbed out on a limb and started sawing, but perhaps not. His friends say that if he is defeated he probably will open a campaign immediately to replace Representative John Q. Tilson as Republican floor leader in the house.

This makes it hard for Mr. Tilson, because he wanted to be candidate for speaker, too, but was chased out by his Empire state neighbor. When Nicholas Longworth was living he and Representative Snell and Tilson were a ruling triumvirate in the house. Now that the head man is gone the two survivors apparently are dedicated to personal policies of "whole hog or none" for the goodies that are left.

Win or lose, Mr. Snell's constituents up in Clinton, Essex, Franklin and St. Lawrence counties are going to have abundant reassurance that the northern portion of New York state has a voice in the house—a persistent and highly persuasive voice.

What Others Say

"NO CHRISTIAN NATION"

Perhaps there may be those who will take issue with Rev. Dr. Bernard Iddings Bell of New York, who declares that there are no Christian nations any more, and the only difference between godless Russia and the countries of the western world is that the degradation of animality and grossness which Russia has gone in for brazenly the others conceal behind a veil of hypocrisy.

Dr. Bell asserts that Russia will make of Moscow a second Chicago. She has made, he says, the city and realm, by easy divorce and reducing holy marriage to a mere social contract, dependent for validity upon convenience or passion, precisely what we have made of Reno and other places.

Dr. Bell speaks with the assured finality of the churchman. Yet there is something to what he says. In the sense of spirituality, where are the Christian nations? The late war seems to have proved that Christian nations do not find the ethics of their faith sufficient to restrain them from colossal murder, crime and destruction; and yet in that mad maelstrom of conflict were to be found spiritual confirmations of fundamental truths of the best there is, or can be, in religion!

What Russia has done, and is doing, furnishes no criterion of morality for the world. As light and good sprang from the lesser horrors of the French revolution, so reasonably will they spring from the mad fanaticism of the red Russian nightmare.

It is true that in the so-called Christian nations there is evil and hypocrisy, but there also are other things. The sordid materialism of bolshevism is ugly and regrettable, as is the sordid masked evil in the so-called Christian lands; but in all the lands of today there is to be found—outside of Russia—the saving element of grace, the elements of love and truth and beauty, of sincerity and honor. We may fall from high moral estate and hypocritically seek to shield our vices, but the way of the Christian populations of the world is onward and upward. To believe that the history of the world is the history of evil triumphant, and that evil can vanquish good, is to believe the impossible—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Among New York's assortment of eccentrics is a rich lady whose fear of germs is a pronounced phobia. Otherwise she is perfectly normal. She lives in one of the fashionable hospices and her entire apartment is sprayed with a germicide twice daily. Room waiters must wear sanitized rubber gloves when serving meals. At a dressmaking establishment her booth is especially draped with sheets before a fitting and at the theater she buys three seats, occupying the middle and leaving one unoccupied on either side. But another year of depression will likely cure that.

An ungallant New Yorker denied his engagement to a chorus girl the other day with: "Marry that tramp? I should say not." All of which recalls the chivalrous days when false rumors spread that David B. Hill was to wed May Irwin. When reporters cornered him, he said: "No gentleman would think of denying his engagement to such an attractive lady. There is nothing, however, to prevent me denying I have ever met her."

An amusing note from a gentleman who belies his 87 years says in part: "I live in one of those rope elevated New York hotels upholstered in lump gilt and red plush that has been the stand by of venerable dodos like myself since the auk was extinguished. But I have not been steinached and I'm keenly interested in hot spots, flapper slang, ho-de-do singing, Rudy Vallee's marcel and the rouge on Ann Pennington's knees. Drop around some late afternoon and we'll get blotto together, go places and pull doorbells." He's too spry for me.

From Zelda, Pittsburgh: "In New York the other day, I talked to you on the phone. You professed to be leaving town, but were pointed out at a theater that evening. Since seeing you I changed my mind. I might add I had a proposition that would have netted you $10,000 for ten minutes time. What does that make you? That dumb, I'd probably make a beautiful chorus girl."

Sinusitis Is Not Trivial

"Sinusitis," or inflammation of the nasal sinuses, is a common ailment. It causes pain or discomfort in the face, the forehead and particularly around the eyes. There is a heavy feeling in the morning which subsides later in the day.

It is rarely seen by the physician in the acute stage. Consequently it quickly becomes a chronic and then requires prolonged treatment. If every case of sinusitis were cared for in the early stage, the cure would be more easily obtained.

Sinusitis should never be neglected. It is a disease which may appear trivial but often it has a marked effect upon the happiness of the individual. There is an increased tendency to colds and other diseases. Ultimately the victim may be compelled to stay away from work and because of this his earning power is reduced.

There are various causes for sinus infection. The lining of the nasal passages and of the sinuses themselves are constantly moist and warm. This favors the harboring and growth of germs. When once the germs get into the sinus cavities they find favorable surroundings for their unpleasant activity.

Such infections may come from diseased teeth. More frequently they follow attacks of colds and coryza, influenza, pneumonia and other acute infectious diseases.

Before the onset of several common diseases there is likely to be an inflammation of the nose. Even though there is speedy recovery from the original ailment the patient may be left with a sinus trouble.

Symptoms of Sinusitis

Swimming and diving in water that is too cold may be followed by a sinus infection. A very common cause is swimming in pools that are contaminated by germs. One person who has an acute cold may infect an entire pool.

The most common signs of sinus infection are headache or pain. This pain is usually in the face, the eyes, over the forehead or occasionally at the back of the head. As a rule, there is a discharge from the nose or throat.

In this condition there may be a temporary loss of the sense of smell. Dizziness and disturbances in the ear, as well as an upset stomach, are common symptoms.

If you have pain in your forehead, eyeache or any complaint in the region of the face, do not trust to your own devices. Do not decide that your trouble is due to eye trouble or toothache. Consult your physician, who will advise you.

New Chinese Envoy to U. S.

In these troubled times in China, Washington welcomed a new minister from the yellow republic. He was not sent to the U. S. because of the Manchurian crisis, but succeeded Dr. Wu, who resigned. However, the new envoy, Dr. Hawking Yen (left), is expected to play an important part in peace negotiations. With Dr. Yen as he was welcomed to Washington are G. T. Ye (center), first secretary of the Chinese legation, and Weigh Ksa, attache.

The Stars Say—

Thursday, Dec. 3

The astral operations bearing rule on the affairs of this day assist to much definite progress in matters long desired and worked for with diligence and fidelity. Merit and personal application toward the goal of specific endeavor may be promised substantial recompensations and money despite omission, with increase of property much turmoil, commotion and tendency to strife. It is time for forging ahead but with calmness and self-restraint.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a very progressive year, with solid rewards for industry, application and personal merit. An increase in lands, personal possessions and money is presaged but there is an injunction not to complicate this onward trend by disputes rash and turbulent behavior.

A child born on this day should be steady, industrious and ambitious, achieving substantial position by its merits, but it should have calmness, amiability and self-control inculcated in infancy, lest impulse and strife mar its success.

Made FRESH

never parched, never toasted

CAMELS are KEPT Fresh!

You probably know that heat is used in the treatment of all cigarette tobaccos.

But you know too that excessive heat can destroy freshness and fragrance.

That's why there could be no truly fresh cigarette except for scientifically developed methods of applying heat.

Reynolds is proud of having discovered and perfected methods for getting the benefits of heat treatments and still avoiding ever parching or toasting.

With every assurance we tell you, Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

If you wish to know why the swing to Camels is nationwide and steadily growing — switch to them for just one day — then leave them, if you can.

EDNA THOMAS SOCIETY

Mrs. Floyd Stone had the devotion at a meeting of the Edna Thomas society of the Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening.

Today's Pattern

FOR DRESS OR APRON
PATTERN 2245

A wrap around model that is becoming and very practical. Without sleeves or collar it makes an admirable apron to protect one's best frocks. With sleeves, long or short, and collar, smartly pointed the model becomes an attractive dress to wear in cotton print for housework, or in white linen or broadcloth for office and beauty parlor. The pockets, pointed for chic, are large enough to be really useful.

Pattern 2245 is obtainable only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 36 inch fabric, ¾ of a yard contrasting. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send for the WINTER CATALOG. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddie clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns.

Bridge Under Water

A high pressure game—that's what this is! If you're skeptical take cognizance of the fact that these bridge players, or maybe it's poker, are under 35 pounds of pressure. For they are spending a few minutes in a decompression lock before emerging into normal atmospheric conditions following their labor in the tubes under the East River, New York. Pressure of air in the tubes is 38 pounds and if the men, working in hour-and-a-half shifts, were to go direct to the surface, they would suffer from the formation of nitrogen bubbles in their blood.

Big Ten Schools Meet Dec. 14; Stratton Wins Over Schaffer

THE DAY IN SPORTS

FITY THE POOR COACH CHANGES LOOM IN 1932

CONDEMNATION proceedings for scholastic and collegiate football coaches will soon be in order. The 1931 season has passed, the winter hot-stove league will start its annual sessions in the immediate future; the successes and failures of various grid mentors through out the nation will be discussed far and wide. Their fates will be settled long before those who really are in authority will have convened on the matter.

One doesn't have to look back very far to recall the days when the coach's only excuse for existence was realized when the home team walloped the tar out of the ancient rivals from Spilonia, those days when neither team was troubled about ethics or cared in what manner a beating might be administered. A victory was the goal and really, the only result was a great celebration in one city and a crowd of intimidated youngsters, solemnly resolved towards retaliation, in the other.

Those were the days when the coach ranked right along with the Sunday ball player and itinerant actor. He came and went with the seasons, receiving, meanwhile, the general condemnation of the more august faculty members who held a cherished place in their respective communities by dispensing large doses of Greek and other scholastic prerequisites.

A coach's activities once were incidental to the prescribed course of study in high school and college. Physical education had little place in the regular curriculum. Athletic contests were accompanied by riots, displays of rowdism that were many times accompanied by feelings that led to well-aimed eggs from nearby nests, creating a sense of rivalry that it took years and years to erase.

Then came a day when a coach was more than an ugly duckling on the faculty. The metamorphosis was gradual but distinct and soon he was placed on a pedestal as the leader of America's youth. He directed our gymnasiums, athletic contests and other activities, all built on the sound theory that only a sound body can house a sound mind. On the coach fell the responsibility of both developing our youth and developing victorious teams.

Suddenly, however, there was a backward step, a change that appears to have taken American sportsmen into just the place it occupied in those palmier days. Victory once again means everything, the coaches main obligation comes in turning out a winner; the development of youth is incidental.

COACHING has become a recognized profession. Every boy wants to become one and there are worse jobs. However, once again the athletic mentor is gazed on by fellow-faculty members as one outside the pale of ordinary school instructions. Because he receives twice their salary his responsibilities on the gridiron are overlooked by the shortsighted professor of pathology and geology. He is merely an overpaid individual commercializing on the barbarian public's barbarism, say these faculty members.

But, this coach faces greater troubles than those appearing only in the school. There are still those who feel, and they are getting more numerous every day, that the loss of three consecutive games is sufficient provocation for expulsion, excommunication or what have you, and if the losses go to five in a row, a discussion may come to the point when all that remains is the selection of a site for the lynching. Generally this is merely the result of placing a few bets on the wrong team, but it is present just the same.

EAST TO MEET WEST IN CHARITY GAME ON COAST ON JANUARY 1

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern, is actually looking forward with pleasure to a charity football game—the annual

Football is important to America; the sport itself cannot be emphasized too greatly. But the American public can emphasize the need of victory in such a manner that will, eventually, prove harmful to this great game and, when all is said and done, we will be once again in the throes of those days the coach was but a coach and not a professor of athletic instruction, a builder of youth.

Physical education no longer consists of standing in desk aisles and endeavoring to gain strong, healthy bodies by arm flapping or leg-kicking exercises. It is a far cry from those first glimmerings to the corrective classes and standard health measurements of our time. The coach has been a great aid in the development of these better methods.

WINNING FOOTBALL teams are essential to a coaches success, it is true. But, fans must be fair in their attitude towards defeat for it may not be entirely the coach's fault. Sometimes it is, but more often it isn't. He faces a colossal burden of organization, supervision and advancement together with his work as disciplinarian and producer of victories.

The worst that can happen to a school is a coach that must have victory at all cost. His players are over-worked, they scrimmage until they reach a point of fatigue that must mean harm to their bodies and general health in future years. Other factors that must enter into a coach's method of instruction are ignored, over-looked, perhaps never even considered.

These coaches are playing up to the public demand. They wish to satisfy the desires of a victory crazed fandom and with those fans lies the remedy to the troubles which are being used by such organizations as the Carnegie Foundation to combat football and various other great American sports.

Twenty-three Oklahoma high schools lost 1931 football games by forfeit as a result of violating eligibility rules.

ED BECK FIFTH IN FOOTBALL SCORING

Salem Star Tallies 50 Points In 10 Games; Quick Is Sixth

With only one more football game remaining on the league schedule—the one between Salem and Alliance at Mount Union stadium Saturday—members of the Northeastern Ohio Big Ten Interscholastic association today were beginning preparations for the 1931-32 basketball competition, plans for which will be outlined at a banquet and business meeting at Alliance on Monday, December 14.

Quakers Start Practices

Salem High opened cage workouts at the Quaker City school gym this week, an impressive array of veteran talent reporting to Coaches Floyd W. Stone and Frank P. Lewis. The basketballers have but 17 days to get in condition for the opening court contest of the season, scheduled with Lisbon High on Saturday, December 19. The first Big Ten game for the Quakers is scheduled Saturday, December 26.

Wooster High school, victor in four consecutive Big Ten league grid frays, will be awarded the Big Ten football trophy, emblematic of the circuit's championship, at the December meeting. Wooster succeeds Massillon High as titleholder while Salem won the championship in the 1929 season.

Seek Tenth Member

Details of the coming campaign will be worked out while league officials will also consider the addition of a tenth school to the league to replace Warren. At present only nine schools are involved in the circuit, efforts to obtain a tenth member for the grid campaign having failed.

Another feature of this Big Ten session will be the selection of the 1932 All-Big Ten football team by sports writers and coaches gathered at the banquet.

R. S. Coppock of Alliance, president of the association, will preside. Harold M. Williams, Salem High faculty member of athletics, is first vice president.

Salem Back Scores 50 Points To Take Fifth Place In League Point-Making Honors

Ed Beck, Salem High star half-back, tallied eight touchdowns and two extra points to annex fifth place in league point-making standings during the regular grid season. R. Talliaferro of Wooster, led the point-making with 101 followed by Joe Williams of Wooster with 85. Foutz of Dover, with 75 points, and Jerina, Barbenton, with 51, were others to top Beck.

Darrell Quick of Alliance, one of the Aviators' big stars in their 12-2 victory over Salem Thanksgiving day, was sixth in scoring with 48 points with Larry Russell

LEETONIA STAR TAKES VERDICT IN FAST MATCH

Tosses Detroit Mauler to Mat for Victory In 2 1/2 Minutes

ITALIAN, PERSIAN BATTLE TO DRAW

Varied Entertainment Is Given Fans at Show; Kappas Wins

Apparently outclassed and doomed to defeat, Walter Stratton of Leetonia came through with a surprise victory over "Speedy" Schaffer, Detroit, Mich., grappler, in the main bout of an all-star wrestling show staged Tuesday night at the Memorial building auditorium.

Varied Entertainment

Stratton's victory climaxed an evening of thrills and chills, that accompanied all "rattle" contests, with a varied program of entertainment, ranging from songs and music to strong-man stunts. The show was staged by Promoter Al Zill with more than 500 turning out for the affair.

The Leetonia victory came in quick time, three falls occurring in the bout in 2 1/2 minutes with Stratton winning two and Schaffer one.

Coming out fast in the first fall, Schaffer won the hatred of the Stratton-loving populace when he cuffed, pushed and tossed the favorite all over the ring, only to lose when he let himself in for a double toe-hold after 12 1/2 minutes, of argument. It was plenty rough.

Works Cautiously

Schaffer, apparently having under-rated Stratton in the first fall, worked more cautiously in the second. Starting in with a series of body slams that soon had the favorite helpless, the Detroitier followed up his advantage with a spectacular flying body seissors and pinned Stratton's shoulders to the mat in eight minutes.

The visiting grappler started the third fall in almost the same manner and had Stratton groggy after three minutes had elapsed. Attempting to pull Stratton from the ropes, Schaffer was suddenly caught unawares as the Leetonian fell backwards to crush him and his shoulders to the canvas for the deciding fall.

Persian, Italian Draw

Angelo Martino of Italy and Pete Merrill of Persia battled to a draw in a good semi-final mix. Martino won the first in 25 minutes when he tossed Merrill out of the ring, the latter being unable to return to finish the fall. The Persian took the second in 20 minutes while they battled the remaining 15 minutes, fast, furious and rough, without a fall.

George Kappas won from Young Johnsin in the preliminary, Carl Miller refereed.

Variety was furnished when two Youngstown lads, a banjo player and a vocalist, entertained between falls in the semi-final, and Arthur Saxton of Belgian, strong man, gave an exhibition and indulged in a dialogue with skeptical fans.

A GIFT SUGGESTION Why not give him a LOUNGING ROBE

A beautiful, practical gift that is appreciated by any man. And this year's prices are reasonable.

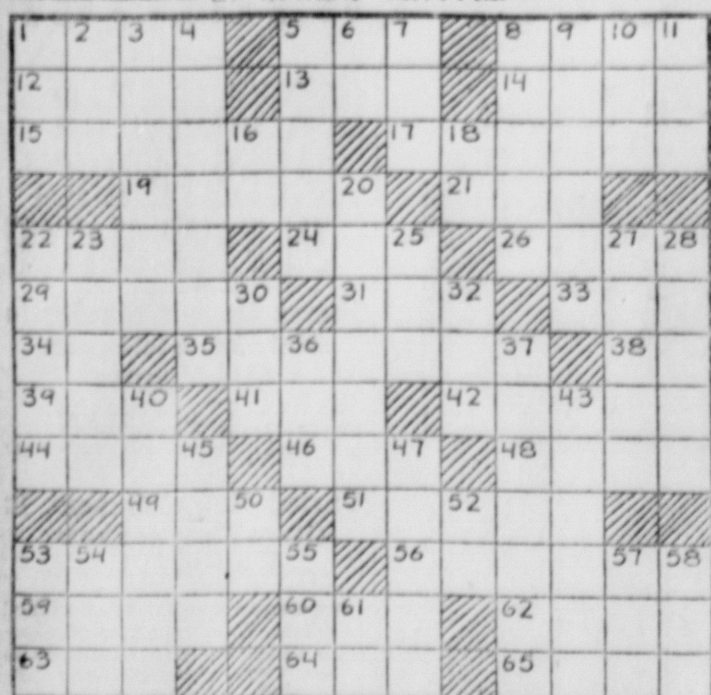

Come in while our selection is complete, pick one out and we will gladly lay it away until Christmas

"MARY FAITH"

by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Mary Faith, young and comely fiancée of Kimberley Farrell, handsome blond youth, just out of law school, leaves her position as secretary to the wealthy Mark Nesbit to marry "Kim." Mary Faith receives a note from Kim's mother inviting her to dinner. Arriving late, due to Kim's delay, Mary Faith is greeted coolly by Mrs. Farrell. Suddenly there is a crash and scream from the kitchen and Kim calls to Mary Faith. Mrs. Farrell had knocked over a pot of coffee slightly burning herself. The unpleasant attitude of Kim's mother proves to Mary Faith that she does not favor the marriage. Driving home, Mary Faith realizes a mother's feelings in giving up her only son.

CHAPTER V

"Mary Faith, I've been thinking over something that you said a while ago," Kim remarked over the pot roast and browned potatoes that Agnes, the red-headed waitress, set before him.

He frowned down at his plate as he spoke. "You said that two women who care for the same man usually hate each other.... Well, I think there's a lot of truth in that. There's a girl at the office—just a kid—really—I've driven her home in my car once or twice—and tonight—"

Mary Faith laid down her fork. Her eyes, steady and brilliant, searched his face.

"And tonight you drove her home," she said. "That's why you were late, wasn't it?"

Kim nodded, helping himself to red currant jelly.

"She lives out this way," he explained. "Well, anyway, I told her that I was thinking about getting married—and gosh, but I certainly was surprised at the way she took it. He stopped again, struggling to find words for what he was trying to tell her.

She saw he was struggling and came to his help. "I can imagine how she took it," she said with a peculiar second-sight of the woman who is in love. "She probably told you that she cared for you, herself, and hated the girl you were going to marry.... wasn't that it?"

His blond head jerked in a quick nod. "That was just about it," he admitted. "But I didn't know until tonight that she felt that way about me. I swear I didn't."

"Did you spend last Sunday with her, Kim?"

He was silent for a minute. And

"Why, it's all up to you, Kim," she found her voice at last.

when he finally did open his lips to answer Mary Faith stopped him.

"No. Never mind. Don't tell me any more about her, Kim," she said. "It makes me unhappy to hear about her. I'm going to forget her."

She was not going to be like Mrs. Dan Bassett, she reminded herself for the second time that night. She wasn't going to start now to be jealous and suspicious.... If Kim didn't care for her he surely would not have asked her to marry him on the first of October would he? He must have known this girl who worked in his office a long time.

She leaned forward and emptied the little glass dish of current jelly on his plate. Like most men, Kim had a sweet tooth.

"Women will always make a great fuss over you, Kim. It's your fatal beauty," she chaffed him, smiling across the table into his eyes. "I've just made up my mind not to pay any attention to them. I'm going to be a good wife, but I absolutely refuse to be a jealous one."

At nine o'clock she sent him home to his mother.

"She's sure to be feeling blue and down-hearted," she told him when he had finished his coffee and was hunting through his pockets for a cigarette, "and it will cheer her up to have you come home early. After all, Kim, it must be hard for a woman to give up her only son—and that's what she thinks she's doing."

She walked with him out to his little roadster.

The yellow leaves on the trees beside the lamp post hung as motionless as if they were painted on a screen.

The stars were still very bright and large. But somehow they seemed farther away than they had two hours before....

"What a night for a drive!" Kim said. "Gosh, what a night!" Mary Faith did not answer him. She only half heard him.

She stood looking at the little car.... How many times had he driven that girl home in it? Mary Faith wondered. How many times had she sat there beside him in the shabby leather seat?

"Good night, Kim, I must go in."

Il Duce's Sons as Editors

The two sons of Premier Mussolini of Italy, Bruno and Vittorio, are shown busily at work getting out their own newspaper "La Penna" at the plant in Rome where it is published. The journal is not only edited and set up by the young boys, but it is practically entirely written by them. Perhaps Il Duce is turning toward the old maxim that "the pen is mightier than the sword."

THEATER Attractions

ALFRED LUNT AND LYNN FONTANNE, stars of many Theater Guild productions of recent years, will make their initial appearance from the speaking screen today at the State theater in "The Guardsman."

The story concerns a jealous actor who cannot live down the fear that his fascinating wife is falling in love with someone else. To test her fidelity he hits upon the ingenious plan of disguising himself as a romantic Russian guardsman and in this guise enters upon a violent flirtation with his wife. After a series of amusing situations in which the actor makes some lightning changes from the respective roles of husband and lover, the denouement occurs but the wife proves herself admirably able to outwit her clever husband.

Both of these stage personalities give excellent characterizations. Roland Young and Zasu Pitts are fine in supporting roles.

"TOO MANY COOKS" opens today at the Grand theater.

Bert Wheeler, who has co-starred many times with Robert Woolsey is seen for the first time without his picture "pard."

Wheeler, in the whimsical role of a hard-working citizen, with the urge to get married and settle down in a love nest, is a new Bert Wheeler, romantic and convincing.

In the leading feminine part is Dorothy Lee, pint-sized beauty, who also is as familiar to film fans as Wheeler and Woolsey, having formed the other angle to this comic triangle in all their pictures.

Roscoe Ates, stuttering comedian, who scored a hit in "Cimarron," plays a stammering, humorous part in the Radio version of the Frank Craven stage play.

Mary Faith followed her into the cheerful parlor.

Mr. McClintock and the two Brock girls, who "made their home" with Mrs. Puckett, were sitting on the wide sofa in front of the fire. Mrs. Puckett always spoke of her boarders as people who "made their home with me." She was very genteel.

Her house was a real home, however, to Mary Faith who had come there seven years before with her widowed mother. And Mrs. Puckett had been a real friend right from the beginning.

Today's Pattern

A versatile frock with charming collar and the treatment may go to school in jersey, corduroy, wool crepe and cotton, or grace a party in canton crepe, Roshanara or velvet. Very easy to make, too, as the cleverly seamed skirt isn't really seamed at all, but tucked and smartly stitched to simulate seaming. You'll like a contrasting collar of satin or pique. Long sleeves are included with the pattern.

Pattern 2243 is obtainable only in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16. Size 12 requires 2 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric, 3/4 yard contrasting. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send for the winter catalog. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns.

COUPON

This pattern will be delivered upon receipt of 15c, coin or stamps, carefully wrapped. Latest Fashion Book 10c. Send all orders to SALEM NEWS PATTERN DEPARTMENT, 243 WEST 17TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Who Is Screen's Greatest Lover?

Poll of One Hundred Female Movie Fans, in Endeavor to Name Successor to Rudolph Valentino, Reveals Wide Diversity of Opinion

CLARK GABLE and GRETA GARBO

RUDY VALENTINO

Back in the days of John Barrymore's heyday the inquiry as to who was the screen's greatest lover could have only one response. Barrymore stood out among his contemporaries like a moon among a throng of minor satellites. The same is true of the Rudolph Valentino era. The man who, with the magic of his personality, wove an aura of romance about a flea-bitten desert sheik undoubtedly stood alone at the pinnacle of his profession. But who today is fit to wear the mantle of a Barrymore or a Valentino? A poll of one hundred movie fans brought forth many names and recommendations for the honor. Strangely, few remember how a short time ago, before the advent of the talkies, they raved about John Gilbert and how their blood-pressure rose to alarming heights as they watched him in an impassioned love scene with Greta Garbo. Clark Gable, the beetle-browed he-man, who treats his women rough and makes them like it, seems to be the present favorite with the female movie fan. Of late, Gable has modified his sock-and-they'll-love-you tactics and adopted the gentle, thoughtful and generous methods. Many of the fair sex in the poll professed a preference for the lanky Gary Cooper, while the soft-voiced Ramon Novarro also had his supporters. Charles Farrell, too, has his champions, who like his gentle methods of love-making, and still another bloc leans towards the dashing methods of Maurice Chevalier, who woos them with song. Ronald Colman, Lew Ayres and Robert Montgomery were also prominently mentioned, but the question is still unanswered. "Who is the screen's greatest lover?"

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Molds For Holiday Sweets

If there's to be much entertaining during the Christmas holiday season then a stock of molds will help the hostess who likes an attractive table. Although most of the very fancy forms are imported, many of them are made in this country and are therefore less expensive.

But plenty of molds may add variety of appearance when there's little change in content. And the many loaves which are now being served by those owning mechanical refrigerators are much improved if they are prepared in a fancy mold instead of a plain loaf. Quite a caterpillar look is given a simple Bavarian cream if it's turned out of a rosette or a spiral or a cornucopia of a mold. Large molds are desirable if there's a tendency to have a numerous service. And small ones for children especially. Tiny rosettes, flowers, little fish and animals make a simple frozen pudding very fancy indeed.

Molds are not useful for desserts only. They can be used with great effect for the salad, or for aspic entrees. Fish molds filled with flaked fish in jelly are very attractive, and surrounded by cold sliced vegetables on a large platter make a good-looking one-piece meal for a Sunday night supper or a mid-week luncheon.

Steamed puddings too can be prepared in fancy molds, with great advantage to their appearance.

It's a good plan to purchase a new mold every so often. They last indefinitely, with reasonable care, and the housekeeper with a good-the ensuing results is always satisfactory to the eye.

Romance Ends

The strange death of Robert Ames (upper), star of the stage and screen and man of many romances, in his New York apartment, broke the love affair of the 41-year-old actor and Ina Claire (lower), also famous before the footlights and movie cameras. Ames had figured in four marriages, but was reported to be on the verge of wedding Miss Claire, who recently divorced Jack Gilbert.

WE MUST HAVE DRASTIC ACTION! Just when we had our very complete Christmas stock in and were all ready for the Christmas Rush, we must vacate our warehouse. We have utterly disregarded cost and slashed prices to rock-bottom. We must unload thousands of dollars worth of new merchandise in the next few days. We are forced to take a great loss — BUT OUT IT GOES! All we can say is, "GET YOUR SHARE OF THESE MAMMOTH BARGAINS."

Sale Starts Thursday, Dec. 3, 9:30 A. M.
